Protect yourself from the seasonal flu — get the flu vaccine

Members have a choice of where to go to get the flu vaccine

We have contracts with several flu vaccine providers increasing member access to it. Members can get the flu vaccine from their doctor or one of our contracted flu vaccine providers.

You can find a list of all the contracted flu vaccine providers on our DocFind® online directory under Flu Shot Provider at www.aetna.com.

We’ve contracted with the listed providers to offer the flu vaccine for the 2012 – 2013 flu season.

Take your Aetna member ID card with you when you get a flu vaccine

These contracted providers accept Aetna coverage. Show them your Aetna ID card when you arrive. You may call Aetna Member Services at the toll-free number on your Aetna ID card for any questions. For more information about flu prevention, visit the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) website at www.cdc.gov/flu/.
Please note:
California (CA) HMO members must go to their primary care doctor to get the flu vaccine. Claims for the flu vaccine given by anyone other than their primary care doctor will be denied. No exceptions will be made for the 2012-2013 flu vaccine season if the member chooses to get a flu vaccine at a corporate/ workplace clinic or anywhere outside of PCP capitation.*

California PPO members can receive their flu vaccine from any Aetna participating provider contracted for these services including the providers listed above.

*Does not apply to Medicare Advantage HMO members in California.
